

Abstract

I will outline a class of theories (which seem to have fell through the cracks) that generalizes standard general relativity in (hopefully) an interesting way. If time permits, some comments will be made about three dimensions.