Spin-Orbit Entangled Materials: from Unusual Order to Liquid States

George Jackeli

Max Planck Institute for Solid State Research, Stuttgart

I will theoretically explore how the relativistic spin-orbit coupling in Mott insulators could give rise to the unusual ordered, amorphous or (quantum) liquid states of the spin-orbital or spin-lattice degrees of freedom. From this perspective, I will discuss correlated transition metal compounds and provide an overview of the available experimental results.