

Electronic structure and coherent states of spin defects in solids and molecules

Giulia Galli

University of Chicago & Argonne National Laboratory

In this talk, I will describe electronic structure calculations using many-body perturbation theory and quantum defect embedding theory to predict the electronic properties of spin defects for quantum sensing and quantum communication technologies. I will also describe simulations of the spin dynamics of spin defects, using both closed and open quantum system formulations.