Speaker: Marc LELARGE, INRIA Paris & Ecole Polytechnique

Title: Statistical physics and random matrix theory for statistical inference

In this short course, we will study tools from statistical physics and random matrix theory for two separate problems. First, we compute the fundamental limits of spiked matrix estimation. Next, we will explain the double descent phenomenon and connect it to neural networks.