

The Importance of Basic Sciences in Addressing the Global Energy Crisis

An ICTP event celebrating the 2022 IYBSSD

A panel discussion on how basic sciences can help bring renewable energy conversion to the forefront of the world's future energy landscape.

Speakers include:

Richard Catlow

University College London, UK
Co-President, InterAcademy Partnership

Patchanita Thamyongkit

Chulalongkorn University,
Thailand (and ICTP Prize 2013 winner)

Moderator:

Stephane Kenmoe

University of Duisburg-Essen
(and ICTP Diploma alumnus)

Wednesday 18 May 2022 15:00,
Budinich Lecture Hall
(and online)
ICTP Leonardo Building

