Contribution ID : 18   Type : not specified

Adding a weak, stochastic, nonspecific reinforcement process to the clipped perception algorithm lets it efficiently solve the supervised learning problem in neuronal models with binary synapses

Thursday, 19 June 2008 11:45 (0:45)

Content

Summary

Primary author(s) :   CARLO BALDASSI (ISI Institute for Scientific Interchange Foundation, Torino, Italy)

Presenter(s) :   CARLO BALDASSI (ISI Institute for Scientific Interchange Foundation, Torino, Italy)

Session Classification :   Adding a weak, stochastic, nonspecific reinforcement process to the clipped perception algorithm lets it efficiently solve the supervised learning problem in neuronal models with binary synapses